Despite their recent doubleheader split with then No.8 UW-Eau Claire, who has now moved to No. 6, and their 3 victories over now-No.14 Wash. Univ., the Saints fell to No. 23 in this week's National Fastpitch Association Coaches’ rankings.

For the fourth time this season, senior pitcher Laura Heise was named the UMAC Pitcher of the Week. Heise recorded a 5-1 record during the week with three complete games, one shutout, and one combined shutout. In 25 innings, the All-American allowed just three earned runs on nine hits and two walks, while striking out 43 opposing batters and holding opponents to a .107 batting average.

Heise became the second Saints player to reach 200 career hits last week as well. Her current total stands at 203.

In addition to Heise’s pitching honors, the UMAC recognized senior Kristi Erickson as the UMAC Player of the Week. In eight games last week, the outfielder went 15-for-26 (.577) with 12 runs batted in, six doubles, two home runs, and ten runs scored.

Erickson also reached a few milestones in Saints softball over the past week. She recorded her 100th career hits, becoming the second Saints player to reach 200 career hits last week as well. Her current total stands at 223.

Andrea Thomas is currently one run from the century-mark with a current career total of 99. Also, Jody Yurczyk is four stolen bases from moving into second place in the Saints’ career standings. The senior is closing in on Keely Behning (2000-01), who has 52.
