Presidential Medallions Designed by Sister Constantina Kakonyi Worn at

THE PRESIDENTIAL MEDAL OF THE COLLEGE OF ST. SCHOLASTICA
DESIGNED BY SISTER CONSTANTINA KAKONYI, S.N.D., 1985

In designing the Presidential Medal for the College of St. Scholastica, Sister Constantina has expressed in metal and color the first ideal of the College's Mission Statement: A Christian vision of the world rooted in Christ's redemptive work; the College's Benedictine sponsorship, heritage and traditions; and its location on Lake Superior.

The dominant forms in the medal are the cross and the circle. Three crosses of varying sizes are superimposed upon each other. Repetition of the symbol emphasizes its significance. For the Christian, the cross is the reminder of Jesus' death on a cross for the redemption and salvation of all mankind.

In the terminals of the arms of the largest cross are the letters S, C, P, B, taken from the Jubilee Medal of St. Benedict designed at Monte Cassino in 1880. The letters stand for the words: Crux Sancti Patris Benedicti. (The Cross of Holy Father Benedict.) St. Benedict is often represented in art forms holding a cross, because according to his biographer, St. Gregory the Great, St. Benedict used the sign of the cross often to thwart the power of the Evil One. This tradition has led to the development of a cross form known as Benedictine. The arms are of equal length with rounded terminals as shown in this medal. The crosses recall both the Christian values and the Benedictine heritage of the College of St. Scholastica.

The arms of the largest cross are entwined with a circle, the Christian symbol of eternal life. The wavy lines on the entwining circle symbolize the water of life, God's grace, through which we are given eternal life.

The location of the College on Lake Superior is symbolized by the blue background on the entwining circle. Red is used as the color of one cross and of the backgrounds for the terminal letters. Red signifies love of God and of neighbor. The purple background of the largest cross denotes the position of president just as in medieval times it signified royalty. Silver, which is used extensively on the medal, represents joy, faith and glory.

Wooden Music Lectern/Podium Carved by Sister Mary Eudes Tims. She was a student here from Dallas, Texas, graduated in 1943 with degrees in sociology and economics, and was a member of the Our Lady of Charity Catholic order. It was formed by Father John Eudes in France in 1641. She also played the trumpet in band here, which perhaps is the musical connection.

Teal is the official color of the American Physical Therapy Association and the triangle is its official logo. The symbol of the person represents what the profession is about - preventing and rehabilitating movement dysfunction in individuals of all ages.

10/79 Psychology

Realia: Banner

The symbol in the center of the banner is the Greek letter psi, commonly used as shorthand for “psychology.” A stylized version of psi is also the official logo of the American Psychological Association.

10/82 Theology, Religious, Catholic Studies

Realia: Banner

The red color represents the discipline of theology. The open book symbolizes the writings of each faith tradition. The candle next to the book signifies that reading and studying the Word gives light and vibrancy to one's faith life. The circle represents the whole of creation with the eye symbolizing God at the center of the universe. The Star of David represents the Judeo-Christian heritage. A Christian interpretation could see the triangles as symbolic of the Trinity. From the Eastern perspective, the cosmic circle represents the self-generating forces called Ch'i which have both Yin and Yang aspects which, when kept in balance also represent the TAO or Way. The crescent moon and the stars signify our unity with the cosmos.
