SOLAR

SOLAR is a database of databases. It searches all our Library resources and even some we don't own. It's a little like the old "feeling lucky" button in Google. But just like Google, or any tool, there is right time to use it. And like Google, the results can be overwhelming. Sometimes using one of our focused, discipline-specific databases can make you luckier.

Searching all Resources

Main Home Page – The home page has lots of ways to get information including key topics, latest news, the current issue of the American Journal of Psychiatry and more.

To search by a topic, enter a keyword into the search box found at the top of the page. You can only search one topic or concept at a time. Click on the magnifying glass to begin your search.

Advanced search – click on the Advanced Search link at the top in the right-hand corner to have more options for searching including by author, or part of the citation.

Click on the + sign to add more search boxes. You can also add the title where it was published and a date range. Click on the Advanced down arrow to include articles in ahead of print.

Click on the Search button when you are ready.

A screenshot of the Advanced Search interface. At the top, there are tabs for "Advanced Search", "Search History", "Saved Searches", and "Citation Search". Below the tabs, there are several search filters: "Anywhere" (a dropdown menu), "Enter Search term" (a text input box with a "+" sign to its right), "Published in" (a text input box with the example "e.g. American Journal of Psychiatry"), "Publication Date" (radio buttons for "All dates", "Last", and "Custom range"), and "Custom range" (two sets of dropdown menus for "Month" and "Year" with "To:" between them). At the bottom, there is a "Search" button. Red arrows point to the "+" sign, the "Published in" box, the "Custom range" radio button, and the "Search" button.

Results list – results will be displayed by format (journal or book)

Click on limits to the left to find articles from specific authors, publications, topics or article types. Click on the article titles to get more information. Click on the article titles to get the full text of the article.

The screenshot shows a search results interface. On the left, there is a sidebar with 'Narrow results' and filters for 'Author' and 'Publication'. The main area shows search results for 'depression', with 'Articles/Chapters (40,267)' and 'Books (4)' links. The first article is titled 'Heritability of Perinatal Depression and Genetic Overlap With Nonperinatal Depression' by Alexander Viktorin et al. Red arrows point to the 'Narrow results' link, the 'Articles/Chapters (40,267)' link, the 'Books (4)' link, and the article title.

Abstract

Objective:

The authors investigated the relative importance of genetic and environmental influences on perinatal depression, and the genetic overlap between perinatal depression and nonperinatal depression.

Method:

Analyses were conducted using structural equation modeling for 1) the lifetime version of the Edinburgh Postnatal

Searching Individual Sources

This is a second way to search this database.

Main home page– beginning at the PsychiatryOnline home page, click the title of the book or journal such as DSM – 5 you are interested in searching.

For Books, you will see the complete table of contents when you click on Expand All. Then click on any chapter title to view that chapter.

**NOTE: You are not able to search for a specific topic or term within the chapter or entire book.
