Accessing the Database

Go to the Library Homepage css.edu/Library

Select Databases, A to Z from the column on the left or click on the Articles tab at the top.
Once on Articles page, select the database you are interested either by finding it in the Best Bets tab or else by clicking on the Databases, A to Z link for an alphabetical listing of all the databases the Library subscribes to. If you are on campus, you will not need a password. Look at the other tabs and boxes for more help with finding the full-text of articles, tutorials, and more.

If you are off campus, when you click on the title of the database, this window will automatically pop up:

Searching all Resources

Main Home Page – The home page has lots of ways to get information including key topics, latest news, the current issue of the American Journal of Psychiatry and more.

To search by a topic, enter a keyword into the search box found at the top of the page. You can only search one topic or concept at a time. Click on the magnifying glass to begin your search.

Advanced search – click on the Advanced Search link at the top in the right-hand corner to have more options for searching including by author, or part of the citation.

Click on the + sign to add more search boxes. You can also add the title where it was published and a date range. Click on the Advanced down arrow to include articles in ahead of print.

Click on the Search button when you are ready.
Results list – results will be displayed by format (journal or book)

Click on limits to the left to find articles from specific authors, publications, topics or article types. Click on the article titles to get more information. Click on the article titles to get the full text of the article.

Searching Individual Sources

This is a second way to search this database.

Main home page—beginning at the PsychiatryOnline home page, click the title of the book or journal such as DSM-5 you are interested in searching.

For Books, you will see the complete table of contents when you click on Expand All. Then click on any chapter title to view that chapter.

NOTE: You are not able to search for a specific topic or term within the chapter or entire book.
For Journals, you will be brought into the journal. You can browse current and past issues by clicking on the pull-down arrow for Archive.
